JAPAN ASKS SOVIET GRANT CONCESSIONS ON SAGHALIEN FOR HALF-CENTURY PERIOD

Wishes to Exploit Valuable Oil, Coal and Timber Areas in Return for Recognition of Soviet Government of Russia; No Concessions on Siberian Mainland Are Asked for the Present.

Tokio, July 25.—The terms under which Japan would be willing to recognize the Russian Soviet Government decided on by the Cabinet yesterday, include, it is authoritatively stated, a fifty-five-year concession for oil, coal and timber on the island of Saghalien, and the exploitation by the Japanese company of the oil of the island, Russia sharing in the profits, the percentage to be decided later.

It is confirmed that Japan will not ask for any concessions on the Siberian mainland for the present.

The chances of an agreement, it is believed here, have been very greatly improved by the new policy proposed by Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Foreign Minister, and accepted by the Cabinet. It is known the Cabinet is very anxious to have an agreement with Russia to its credit.

FARMER CAPTURED AFTER GUN BATTLE

S. Ouskowski, of Bjorkdale, Sask., a Pole, Charged With Shooting

Held Provincial Police and Citizens at Bay For Hours

Prince Albert, July 25.—After holding three provincial policemen and a posse of citizens at bay for hours with two rifles and a revolver and slightly wounding Constable Philip Powers in the head, Stanley Ouskowski, a Polish farmer at Bjorkdale, wanted on a charge of shooting with intent, was captured in his farmhouse at midnight last night.

Inspector Tait of the Provincial Police said M. Hunter, a bank manager at Tisdale, had visited Ouskowski's farm a day or two ago, presumably to make collections. Ouskowski fired at him with a revolver, narrowly missing his mark, it is stated.

Yesterday afternoon when Constable Powers went to arrest him, Ouskowski opened an attack on him, firing five shots. Constables were sent to assist Powers and Ouskowski was captured at midnight.

37,000 MEN FOR PRAIRIE HARVESTING

Total Required This Year Estimated: Last Year 65,000 Men Worked

Winnipeg, July 25.—Eighteen thousand workers from Eastern Canada are required this season to assist in harvesting the prairie grain crop, it was decided at a conference here today of representatives of the railroads, the Provincial Governments' farm organizations and employment services. Nineteen thousand men, it was estimated, can be secured on the prairies and in British Columbia, and the total of 37,000 will be sufficient to complete the task. Last year about 65,000 harvesters were employed.

It is thought harvesting will commence in Manitoba about August 20 and in Saskatchewan and Alberta about August 25.

ACCUSED SAILORS ARE SENT BACK TO SHIP AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, July 25.—Holding he had no jurisdiction, as the offence, if any, was committed on a vessel under a foreign flag, Magistrate James Findlay today dismissed the charges of refusal to perform duty preferred against twenty sailors of the Chilean steamship Marina, at present lying out in the stream here.

The men therefore will be returned to their ship, much to their chagrin, as one of the complaints made by them is that they have been improperly fed on the vessel.

William Oldham, of Warrington, England, designer of the craft, plans an attempt to cross the Atlantic alone in it. He planned such a trip several years ago but was forbidden to start by the Mayor of Liverpool.

Loggers in Ontario Fight Newly Arrived Czecho-Slovaks

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 25.—The arrival of two carloads of Czecho-Slovaks at Sault Ste. Marie, to work for the Hope Lumber Company, bids fair to start a war in the woods, as bushmen of the district do not take kindly to the invasion and clashes are already reported.

SMUGGLERS IN NEW JERSEY HANDLE NARCOTIC DRUGS, ALIENS AND RUM SUPPLY

New York, July 25.—Permission to board vessels in Rum Row to search for narcotic drugs and aliens to be smuggled into the United States will be sought by agents of the Treasury Department, it was announced today following the seizure of a letter on a prisoner indicating their presence on vessels anchored off shore. The letter, written by a man on one of the boats to Robert Wynne, 3 Clayburn Street, Glasgow, Scotland, stated that Chinese and other foreigners were aboard the boats and also that an airplane had been making six trips daily from the fleet with illicit cargoes of liquor. The letter bearing this information fell into the hands of the officials through the capture of a motorboat carrying 200 cases of liquor. The letter said in part:

"Dear Parents:—Just a line to let you know all is well and dandy. Don't write any more as we are nearly empty and shall soon be home. All we have left is about 2,000 cases, which we will discharge in two days if all is well."

EXCITING LIFE
"Well, parents, this is a very exciting life out here. There are two boatloads of Chinese, Italians, Greeks and so forth all waiting to be smuggled into the United States. There are also a couple of steamers loaded with cocaine, opium and morphine, all of which is being smuggled in every day. We have a seaplane which comes out every day and takes nine or ten cases each trip. It makes an average of six trips a day."

"I'll have to close now as there are some customers alongside I must attend to."

ALDERMAN INSISTS ON POLICE INQUIRY IN CITY OF MONTREAL

Montreal, July 25.—The statement that a police officer connected with the Hochelaga Bank holdup here because "he was not allowed to for various reasons," is contained in one of forty declarations, written and signed by as many responsible ratepayers and in possession of Theo Laurence, secretary of the St. Edwards' Ward Citizens' Committee, who is conducting Alderman Dubreuil's campaign for an inquiry by a royal commission into local police matters, he stated today. Already there are some 15,000 signatures on the petition.

TOO EARLY YET FOR ESTIMATES OF CROPS

Barring Disaster, Prairies Will Produce Large Quantity of Wheat
That is Statement Made by Miss E. C. Hind After a Tour

Winnipeg, July 25.—Wheat futures on the Winnipeg Exchange went to new high records today as the result of a five-cent boost of prices on heavy purchases by United States interests. The closing prices, 4c to 4 1/2c above the close of Thursday, were $1.48 for July; $1.39 1/2 for October; $1.34 for December and $1.35 1/2 for May.

Winnipeg, July 25.—"No one, no matter how expert he may be or how far he may travel, can tell for a month at least even approximately what the crops will be in any one of the three prairie provinces," says E. Cora Hind, agricultural editor of The Manitoba Free Press, in a dispatch summing up conditions following an extensive tour of inspection throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

"Unless some unforeseen disaster overtakes it, there will be a large quantity of very excellent wheat come out of the Canadian prairies," she stated.

"Should general rains occur any time within the next ten days, not (Continued on page 2.)"

REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS WILL BE CHIEF SUBJECT AT SEPTEMBER LEAGUE MEETING

Senator Dandurand Will Represent Canada at Important International Gathering in Geneva; Nations of British Empire and Other Countries Declined to Accept Proposed Treaty of Mutual Assistance.

Ottawa, July 25. (Canadian Press).—Disarmament is expected to form an important part of the proceedings of the Assembly of the League of Nations when it meets in Geneva in September, with the likelihood of the summoning of a general conference of powers as the outcome.

The attitude of the British Government toward the proposed Treaty of Mutual Assistance, as outlined in the House of Lords by Lord Parmoor yesterday, and the concurrence therein of the Dominions and other members of the League has made it practically certain that some alternative method will have to be sought.

The Treaty of Mutual Assistance arose from the suggestion of a committee of which Lord Robert Cecil was chairman and subsequently was submitted to the disarmament commission. The treaty has not been signed. It is merely in the form of a draft which has been distributed among the members of the League, Canada receiving one as a member, and the members were invited to express their views thereon. The treaty sought to link together the question of disarmament and of assurance of security. The gist of the treaty was that if any nation applied to countries in the same continent for military assistance in case of attack by another power, the Council of the League was to determine the amount of assistance required. One qualification in the treaty was that it should apply to countries on the same continent.

NOT APPROVED
Great Britain declined to accede to the treaty and so did all the Dominions. The precise terms of the Canadian objection have not been announced, but, generally speaking, it is understood the Dominions took the ground that in view of the stand already taken on Article X of the League covenant, it would be undesirable for any member of the League to undertake any more explicit obligations.

The British government, in its objections, went into more detail, taking the general ground that:

1. It was not desirable to give the Council of the League power to determine what action should be taken.
2. In the work of the League emphasis should be laid on preventive rather than punitive measures; that the League should have an agency for mediation and conciliation and the alternative methods of reducing armaments would no doubt be discussed.

FAVORED PLAN
Premier MacDonald was reported to regard the Treaty of Mutual Assistance with some favor personally although his government has gone on record against it.

The Premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy have alike indicated their intention of attending the session of the League, lending added importance to its deliberations.

Senator Dandurand will be the chief Canadian delegate.

GIVE THEM THE LASH

WHILE bandits were robbing the Robson Street branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce yesterday morning the Mayor of Vancouver was advocating the lash for certain types of criminals in an interview he was giving to the press.

Public opinion in the Terminal City will not be slow to support the view of its Chief Magistrate. Since the middle of June there have been nearly a dozen hold-ups in Vancouver and prison sentences seem to have very little effect in discouraging this sort of crime.

Yesterday's attack on the bank manager was a particularly brutal affair. By a stroke of luck the blow which one of the bandits dealt to his head was not a fatal one. But it was not the fault of the aggressor. His idea was to bring Mr. Bonnell into an immediate state of subjection in order that the robbery could be carried out. But there was no time to study a particular spot on the manager's most vulnerable point which could be pummeled and produce only a state of temporary stupor. The attack was obviously a murderous one and mere chance prevented a tragedy.

It is high time that violent attacks on the person should be rewarded with as many strokes of the lash as the body of the culprit can stand. He is a murderer by intent and the punishment should fit the crime. The element of surprise which he is able to introduce into his nefarious work, the speed with which he can make himself scarce, make capture extremely difficult; but if those who are brought to book were to be treated to a generous dose of physical pain, hold-ups would lose a good deal of their appeal for the criminally-inclined.

Magistrates and judges will not fall foul of public sentiment if they let these brutes have all that is coming to them.

THE KINDLY WORD

THE Scottish editors who are now on a visit of investigation in this country emphasize the importance of welcoming organizations which are capable of taking hold of the immigrant when he arrives and putting him on the right track.

There is a good deal to be said in favor of the argument. Nothing approaching pampering need be attempted. The man without sufficient enterprise and grit to look after himself in a general way would be better off among his own friends in his own country.

The idea is not new; a number of the satisfied harvesters who returned to Britain to wind up their affairs so that they could return to Canada explain that many men became dependent—and easy prey for the few professional grumblers—when the harvest had been gathered because of the lack of machinery to expedite their movement about the country to possible occupation. In most cases, they point out, even a few kind words of encouragement and a little practical advice would have held them down. Then again a sort of sudden appreciation of the immense distances separating one sphere of activity from another discouraged many.

So that if organizations throughout the country would obligate themselves to lend a hand, even in a small way, there is no doubt that additional impetus would be given to the movement of people from the other side. For, whether we like it or not, the ridiculous harvester howl did emigration from Britain to Canada more harm than may appear on the surface.

A RECORD DAY

THERE were 246 callers at the offices of the Publicity Bureau yesterday and their inquiries ranged from the subject of thousand acre dairy farms to fishing pools.

This is a record day for the local office. It proves more than one thing. It indicates that Victoria is becoming more and more popular as a tourist point. It shows beyond any question of doubt that this year's holiday movement is greater by far than last or any previous year. It is another argument in favor of adequate publicity for Vancouver Island in order that still more business may be obtained and still greater provision made for the comfort and entertainment of those who come.

The point for Victorians to remember more than anything else is that the more people who come here on holiday bent the better is the chance for this city to obtain permanent residents. For there are precious few who come here and go away with a favorable impression who do not either come back again or send others on their own personal recommendation. In this way the volume of travel will increase and the greater will be the number who are looking for permanent homes.

This is the movement which made Los Angeles—converted it and the country around it from an arid desert into a thriving holiday community and a great industrial metropolis. Our main aim should be to get the people. They furnish a market. Industrial activity is the result.

MACLAREN NEARING CANADA

IF conditions continue to remain favorable the British round-the-world fliers will soon arrive at the point at which the jumps to Alaska will be commenced. At present Major MacLaren and his companions are at Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka Peninsula. From this point the route will be followed to Commander Islands and on to Attu Island, these jumps being approximately 300 miles each. From this Southern point in the Aleutians the party will make for Akutan and thence to Dutch Harbor, the latter point being situated at a comparatively short distance from the Alaska Peninsula.

From Attu Island onward to the mainland is expected to prove the most trying part of Major MacLaren's flight this side of the Atlantic. It is true that he will face the task at the most promising time of the year—a much more pleasant prospect than confronted the American fliers a month or so ago—but atmospheric conditions in that part of the world are extremely treacherous at any time and only a stroke of good fortune will reduce the usual misgivings which attend a flight of this kind.

The American fliers are resting in Britain pending their Atlantic flight by easy stages to Labrador. They will no doubt complete their journey before their British rivals; but they have been a little more fortunate than the party headed by Major MacLaren. Nevertheless it is fairly safe to assume now that both British and American aviators will complete what they set out to do. The time taken is not material in any sense. The undertaking has no commercial significance. It is a sporting event all through and both parties have had experiences which they will never forget and will scarcely want to repeat.

PLEASING SIGNS

SLOWLY but surely are the various agencies working for a still more intimate understanding between the English-speaking peoples. Our neighbors on the South of the line, more pronounced than ever before, are taking an interest in Europe's problems and are to be found very closely in accord with the British view of what should be done to restore normal conditions.

This is perhaps the more official evidence of growing harmony. To this must be added the cordial relations which exist between the people of Canada and the people of the United States. Then there is the effect which the visit to Britain of two thousand of the brightest business minds from the South, as delegates to the annual gathering of the Association of Advertising Clubs of the World in London, must produce between the two peoples. Ponder over the pleasant time the members of the American Bar Association are having at the present moment. Their informal meeting with the royal family in the grounds of Buckingham Palace yesterday will have left a satisfying feeling about the freedom enjoyed by the two democracies. And the visit of the British Special Service Squadron to San Francisco will have played its own particular part in emphasizing the spirit of good-will in Anglo-Saxondom.

These are the events which appeal to the people as a whole. The lessons learned in this closer interchange of view, the new friendships which are thereby established, make for more cordial relations between the nations of the world.

MEANS CONTENTMENT

DETAILS in the annual report of the Minimum Wage Board indicate that the employers of female labor in British Columbia are paying more wages on the average than the Act really calls for.

Just a little more than seventeen dollars a week is given as the average remuneration to the women and girls of the Province who are designated as experienced workers over the age of eighteen years.

From the facts as set out in the report it is easy to understand the value to those concerned of a piece of progressive legislation for which the people of British Columbia have the Oliver Government to thank.

It stands to reason that conditions which admit a fair wage for a fair week's work are a good advertisement for that part of the country which has produced them. They make for contentment, and contented citizenship is barren ground for Communistic seed.

Australia's bill to authorize the construction of the two new cruisers is having a slow passage because it is proposed that one should be built in Britain. It is only natural that the people of the Commonwealth should want to do the business.

The High Commissioners are forming themselves into a Committee and will establish a central office so that inquiries for Empire goods at the British Empire Exhibition can be dealt with intelligently and expeditiously. The idea is a good one and should be profitable for all concerned.

NOT MUCH LEFT TO WISH FOR

From The Redcliffe Review
With a first-class swimming pool and a first-class picture show, people of Redcliffe now have two good ways of occupying at least a part of their time.

FOUR-LEAF CLOVER

I know a place where the sun is like gold,
And the cherry blossoms burst with snow,
And down underneath is the loveliest nook
Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith,
And one is for love, you know,
And the fourth is for luck, if you're true,
If you search you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith,
You must have love and be strong—and so,
If you work, if you wait, you will find the place
Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

—Ella Higginson.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Totems"

(Copyright)

SIR JAMES FRAZER has given us many interesting observations upon the subject of totems.

A totem is the animal, plant or other object, which protects the tribe or clan. Thus, it is the name, title or emblem of the tribe's collective conscience.

One of the first plans of the human animal when he began to think was to form a group with other animals of the same kind. This group had many advantages. It furnished protection as well as social pleasure.

But it also had a very important psychological effect. It profoundly affected his mind. Thinking is mighty hard work, and the group-consciousness saved him a lot of thinking.

It does yet. Humanity is much the same as it always was, whether it has existed four thousand years or forty thousand, whether you accept the chronology of theologians or of the scientists. In either case it has not been long. Compared with the stretches of cosmic history, it is but a thin line upon a vast page. We have every reason to believe that the human race is still in its infancy.

Scratch a twentieth century mind and you will find a troglodite. Now the greatest offender against the tribe is not the man who refuses to obey the totem and who opposes it. The greatest of all offenders is the man who says that the totem is a totem. Just as the chief offender among idolaters would be the wretch who claims that the idol is nothing but a piece of wood.

And the great trouble with us is not that we have totems, for, indeed, they have their place and use. The trouble is that we think totem.

Most people do not think at all until they find out what somebody else thinks. Far from esteeming it a weakness to have no opinion except that of the mob, we take great pride in our mob ideas. And we cast out as a leper anyone who dares to think for himself. The party calls him a renegade, the church calls him a heretic, and the nation calls him a traitor.

The Battle of Lundy's Lane

July 25, 1814

THE American General Brown crossed over on July 3, from Buffalo with nearly five thousand men and took Fort Erie, garrisoned by one hundred and seventy British. Pushing northward along the Canadian bank of the Niagara River he met the British General Riall barring the way with fifteen hundred regulars and militia at Chippawa just above Niagara Falls. Here was fought on July 3 one of the bloodiest of battles in the war. The British lost a third of their total strength but stayed the enemy's advance. A day or so later, however, that enemy, with his superior numbers, turned the British flank, crossed the Welland River some miles west, and marched on Fort George on Lake Ontario at the mouth of the Niagara River. General Riall had to fall back to that fort lest his communications be cut.

General Brown, finding that the American naval commander on Lake Ontario could or would not co-operate with him, after some skirmishing about Fort George, retired to Chippawa as a ruse and to replenish his exhausted army, intending to make a dash diagonally across the Niagara Peninsula to Burlington Heights, where the city of Hamilton lies to-day, and where then was situated the British base for that district.

General Riall's advanced guard, not quite a thousand strong, under Lieutenant-Colonel Pearson, followed closely the retreating Americans, and early on the morning of July 25, that memorable day, occupied the crest of that long, low rise along which, westward from the Niagara River and at right angles to the road from Chippawa to Queenston, ran Lundy's Lane through the Lundy Farm, now the town of Niagara Falls, Ontario. General Brown did not know that Colonel Pearson was there until late that afternoon.

MEANWHILE, Lieutenant-General Sir Gordon Drummond (who, by the way was a Quebec boy making a name for himself in the British regular army), commander of the forces in Upper Canada, had arrived from Toronto at the mouth of the Niagara River, at the American-Fort Niagara which the British had taken and were holding, with some reinforcements, learning the disposition of the military chess-board, he immediately galloped ahead of his fresh troops toward the Falls.

Meanwhile, also, General Brown, hearing that the British had landed at Lewiston on the American side, and fearing for his supplies at Fort Schlosser, on the United States bank above the Falls, ordered General Scott to advance again to Queenston. General Scott advanced with nearly fifteen hundred men, ran into the British on the rise at Lundy's Lane. General Riall, who had come up, supposing General Scott's force to be the whole American army, ordered a retreat. Just then, providentially, galloped up General Drummond, took in the situation at a glance, countermanded General Riall's orders for retreat, and led his main body of thirteen hundred coming along several miles away to the northwest. He had decided to stand or fall here and now.

General Scott attacked with his fifteen hundred. Drummond soon had eighteen hundred to hold him off. It was half-past six o'clock on that hot day. Brown was reinforced on his right by a detachment of American regulars, working up a foliage-hidden fence, mowed down the gunners to a man and captured the battery, only to be dislodged at the point of the bayonet. The American numbers told in a counter-charge which drove back the British from the guns. Then the British swept out the Americans again. At last both armies dropped for a moment in sheer exhaustion in the night and none but the dead gunners held the guns.

Again the struggle began. The American regulars, double the numbers of all the effective British, charged, but at this very moment up came Riall's main body under Colonel Hercules Ross. The Americans took the guns, but were once more dislodged and midnight found both sides utterly worn out.

"The Country Kid" Stars Wesley Barry at Playhouse

That combination, Wesley Barry, the celebrated juvenile actor, William Beaumont, his director, and Julien Josephson, author of the stories they work into such winning pictures, seems to be an invincible one. It seems they improve with age and that every new picture is better than the one preceding it.

"The Country Kid," at the Playhouse Theatre, showed beyond the shadow of a doubt that Wesley Barry has won for himself a warm spot in the hearts of the people of this city. Indeed the applause showed that there is not a person who would not go a good bit out of his way to see Wesley in each succeeding new film. In this picture Wesley Barry steps

"The Custard Cup" is Shown at Pantages All Week

Two of the characters in "The Custard Cup," the widely read book, which has been put into film form by William Fox, are "Mrs. Penfield" and "Lettie." In their proper persons "Mrs. Penfield" is the well loved Mary Carr, of "Over the Hill" and "Silver Wings," and "Lettie" is the famous little Miriam Battista who made a big hit in "Humoresque." "Lettie" is one of "Mrs. Penfield's" adopted children and shares with the two boys, "Crink" and "Thad," the untiring devotion of the cheerful and warm-hearted "Penzie," as she is called by her friends and neighbors.

Silk Stockings Now Offering at the Capitol

The gift of silk stockings and a pair of fancy silver buckled dancing slippers, a pretty factory girl is the fly in the ointment of Richard Barthelmess' troubles in "Twenty-one," the First National picture which is delighting moviegoers at the Capitol Theatre this week.

In this latest starring-vehicle Dick has the role of one Julian McCullough, young son of rich parents, who tires of the society of his particular set and finds pleasure in the company of Lynnie Willis, a poor girl, whom he meets secretly and takes on motor rides and to dances. The discovery of his perfectly innocent gift results in a most compromising situation which brings about the extraordinary denouement in this fascinating screen story.

Dorothy Mackall gives a warm and sympathetic character delineation as Lynnie Willis.

Columbia Film is Whirlwind of Active Romance

Charlie Jones went back to his rickety days last night at the Columbia Theatre, and mightily happy, entertaining days they proved to be. He appeared in his latest William Fox production, "The Circus Cowboy," and it proved to be a thrilling, two-fisted romance that will rate very near the top in the list of pictures for which Jones has made a name.

The story is that of a cowboy who, accused of shooting a man, fled from the scene bent on killing him. He outrides, outwits and outdares his pursuers. By a pre-arranged plan, he joins a circus in which a little friend, a tightrope walker, appears. He is discovered through the trickery of an animal trainer who covets the girl. To reveal the rest of the story would be unfair to the reader, but suffice to say that it is a red-blooded picture, full of action and tense moments. One scene where Jones crosses a canyon on a rope which is severed by a rifle shot will make you grasp the arms of your seat and catch your breath.

Marian Nixon as the girl is as sweet and capable as ever. Others in the cast are Jack McDonald, Ray Hallor, Marguerite Clayton and George Romani.

Was Once Glad of Five Dollars for Week's Work

James Cruze, the man who made "The Covered Wagon," once worked for five dollars a week.

Years ago Cruze and a partner had a vaudeville act for which they received seventy-five dollars a week. "By the time we had paid our transportation and other incidentals, we had left only ten dollars which we shared," says Cruze. "That gave each of us five dollars. But there were times when we were billed less on the programme in certain houses, this was the place of honor, and that pleased us more than if we had received twice the money."

"The Enemy Sex," James Cruze's latest production for Paramount, featuring Betty Compson, with Percy Marmont, Huntly Gordon, Sheldon Lewis, Kathryn Williams and many others just as well known in the strong supporting cast, plays at the Dominion Theatre this week. The story is an adaptation of Owen Johnson's popular novel, "The Salamander."

Capitol to Show Party Held in Moving House

In "The Perfect Flapper," Colleen Moore's new starring vehicle, which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday, film fans will learn of a new way to hold a party. In this dynamic epic of the jazz age, a group of young people decide to hold a party in a mansion while it is being moved from one location to another. The result is a hilarious and exciting effect which could only take place in a rocky, shaky, structure rolling ponderously through the streets of a slumbering city.

"The Perfect Flapper" is another offering by First National, the producers of "Flaming Youth," with the same flashing stars. It was also directed by John Francis Dillon and contains a cast of brilliant players including Sydney Chaplin, Phyllis Haver, Frank Mayo, Lydia Knott, Charles Wellesley and many others of equal prominence.

STAGE

SUMMER SOLSTICE DARKENS BROADWAY THEATRES

New York, July 25.—Not one new production saw the light of day during the past week. There was, to be sure, one opening—that of a group of Japanese playlets—but their field is so limited that they really do not count in a larger sense.

Producers know that success for a new play at this stage of the season is a most uncertain quantity. A few producers are of the "sportsman" type and will take chances. But most of them prefer not to make the risk too risky.

The next season will witness several innovations. One will be a revue to be produced by Arch Selwyn. It will be called "Rue de la Paix," and it will be actors and actresses from nearly every nation in the world.

"When 'Rue de la Paix' opens in New York—theatersgoers will see a form of entertainment entirely new in conception," Selwyn says.

Dominion to Show Billie Dove in Zane Grey Story

Irvin Willat in producing the Paramount picture, "Wanderer of the Wasteland," from Zane Grey's immensely popular novel of the same name, directed his wife, Billie Dove, who is a featured player in the cast along with Jack Holt, Kathryn Williams and Noah Beery. This is the first time since the marriage ceremony that Billie has appeared under her husband's direction. Those who have seen the picture declare it is her greatest role—bar none.

"Wanderer of the Wasteland," with an all-star cast playing in support of the principal players, opens a six days' run at the Dominion Theatre next Monday. Here's a real rival of "The Covered Wagon," and it's done entirely in color!

G.W.V.A. Secures Pension For Aged Ex-City Employee

The evening of life will be made more comfortable for S. Kirby, an aged ex-employee of the city, who has had one son killed in the war and whose other son is still in hospital suffering from war disabilities from which he may never recover. After strenuously pushing the case, the local branch of the Great War Veterans has just received advice from the Dominion Command at Ottawa that a pension has been awarded to the aged man on compassionate grounds.

The G.W.V.A. fought this case with the Board of Pension Commissioners on the grounds that the father was certainly entitled to a pension on one or other of the sons. The City Council recently decided to disburse with the services of Kirby. The action of the Council urged the local branch of the G.W.V.A. to renewed efforts to enable a man who had given so much in the service of his country to receive a small income, and spend his remaining days in a little comfort.

Roll of Service Volume is Being Made by College

Several hundred members or former members of the University of British Columbia, and of McGill University College of British Columbia, will, it is hoped, within the next few weeks, receive copies of the Roll of Service of the University. Every student, former student, and faculty member of the University, and of the McGill Colleges in Vancouver and Victoria which preceded the establishment of the university, has been circled on the basis of the first-hand information thus received. Brief accounts of the war records of each ex-soldier have been prepared for publication in the War Book. More detailed records will be published of the services of those who failed to return.

A representative of the university war records committee, which has the work in hand, has been in Victoria for the last few days, clearing up the last few instances of members who have not hitherto been able to be traced. It is hoped that any student or former student of these institutions who has not received and returned a circular form of information in regard to his war service will communicate at once with the Editor, Roll of Service, University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

FARM LABORERS ARE GOING TO ONTARIO

Drift of Men From Prairies is Reported by Employment Service

Toronto, July 25.—Farm laborers of Western Canada are drifting East in search of employment in Ontario, it was reported to-day by Sydney Falls of the Toronto office of the farm department of the Employment Service of Canada. He said his office was sending thirty men a day to farms at wages ranging from $36 to $58 a month, and of the number one-half were recent arrivals from Great Britain.

MRS. NICHOL VISITS GUIDES IN CAMP

Girls Gave Hearty Welcome to Provincial Commissioner Wednesday

The Girl Guides in the district camp at Sooke River flats, Milne's Landing, were honored by a visit from Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, provincial commissioner of Girl Guides, and Miss Mara, deputy commissioner, on Wednesday, which was visitor's day. The guests were received by Mrs. Kinloch, district commissioner, and Miss Leighton, camp commandant, and immediately proceeded to a tour of inspection of the tents, which showed everything to be in first class order. Mrs. Nichol expressing herself as delighted with the general neatness and discipline.

Inspection of tents over, the guides were drawn up in ceremonial formation to salute the commissioners, after which Miss Mabel Wilson and four recruits to the Gonzales Company were duly enrolled. During the afternoon sports were indulged in, the weather being most favorable for swimming races and diving stunts. The most popular event was a swimming race, visitors and officers versus Guides, which resulted in a victory for the Guides.

About eighty Guides are taking advantage of the district camp, and are enjoying every minute of the time. Each morning, lined up in horseshoe formation the Guides meet to unite in a simple prayer and salute the flag of Empire, the close of each day finds them gathered round the camp fire, comparing notes on the day's doings, telling yarns and singing the guide camp songs.

Army tents and equipment are in use and each company officer is made responsible for the stores and cooking for her own company. Each Guide reports for duty daily, and takes her turn in cooking, gathering fuel, water carrying and all the necessary work of the camp.

The result is that all is done in good order, and though the girls have lots of fun over the unaccustomed tasks, well cooked meals are served on time, and there is plenty of comfort and lots of time for sports of every kind. The girls are popular, and swimming has been most enthusiastically taken up, many who were very poor swimmers at the beginning of the holiday have made wonderful progress, and are working up for their swimming badge. Every care is taken for the safety of the girls, two good swimmers being on picket duty at the hours allotted to bathing.

On Saturday the Guides will return to their homes, but the camp will continue for four days longer for officers and patrol leaders. Before the visitors left on Wednesday, Miss Mara had accepted a very hearty invitation to return on Friday to spend the week-end with them.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE RUMMAGE SALE

Shawnigan Welcomes Boy Scouts on Island Tour

Special to The Times

Shawnigan Lake, July 24.—The Shawnigan Women's Institute held its annual Rummage Sale in the S. L. A. Hall on Saturday. The affair was an outstanding success, both from a point of attendance and receipts. For a considerable time the members of the Institute have been collecting articles, and preparing for the event.

The home cooking and vegetable stall was the centre of attraction for the many campers who were able to purchase cakes, jams, jellies and a full range of garden truck.

Mrs. F. F. Elford and Mrs. A. E. Whetton presided at this stall, and sold out all their wares. The jumble stall, in charge of Mrs. Mason Hurley, Mrs. W. P. Gooch and Mrs. Eardley Wilmet, reminded one of an old curiosity shop. Ladies' dresses, hats of early Victorian period, shoes and dainty needlework, piles of books and bric-a-brac covered two large tables. A feature of the sale was a five and ten cent stall in charge of Mrs. Barry. Many bargains were secured there. During the afternoon tea was served. Mrs. A. Christenson and Miss Whyte in charge. The service was given by Miss Iris Dick and Miss P. Cunningham, who made charming waitresses. There was also music, Mrs. J. Rathbone rendered several vocal selections in a most delightful manner, accompanied on the piano by Miss Doreen Elford. The ice cream stand was in charge of Master Walter Elford. After paying expenses, the sum of seventy dollars remained to swell the exchequer of the Institute, a portion of which will be set aside to assist the work of the district nurses.

Mr. Richards has offered a prize for the best six asters grown from his seed. A letter containing her resignation as president was read from Madame Beauchemin, who is visiting in California. She has been asked to reconsider her decision. Miss Kelly gave an interesting description of the duties of a district nurse and an account of her visit to the Detention Home in Vancouver. After the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Brindley.

U.S. PEOPLE GUESTS OF KING AND QUEEN

Lawyers and Others Attended
Garden Party at Buckingham Palace Yesterday

Prince Was There; King and Queen Shook Hands With Thousands

London, July 25.—Approximately 2,000 invited guests, most of them lawyers from the United States, attended the garden party held at Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon.

It was the first royal garden party ever given in honor of Americans, and more citizens of the United States passed through the palace portals yesterday than during the past decade. Behind the severe forbidding front of the big building which faces the Mall they found little of the ceremony usually associated with royalty.

Their Majesties and the Prince of Wales, accompanied by their ladies and gentlemen-in-waiting, came out of the palace in a shower of rain to find their guests lined up under umbrellas along the winding path through the grounds.

TALKED WITH PREMIERS

After speaking with Premier Herriot of France, Premier Theunis of Belgium and delegates to the Inter-Allied Conference, Their Majesties greeted the Secretary of State of the United States and Mrs. Hughes, after which Mrs. Hughes joined the Queen on a walk through the gardens.

Soon the 2,000 guests were divided into three shifting groups. One gathered about the King and another around the Queen, and a third, comprising most of the young ladies in attendance, close to the Prince, who talked gaily with anyone and everyone near him, particularly of the trip he intends to make to Canada and the Eastern United States next fall.

WORE SILK HATS

All of the American men wore silk hats, and had all the rest of the sartorial effects traditionally associated with royal garden fetes. The King had specifically informed the guests that it would not be necessary to comply with the palace custom of wearing a dress, for he realized that many of them had come to England not expecting to participate in formal social functions. Nevertheless, the Americans attended in style. They bought, borrowed or hired London's stock of high silk hats. In all of the democratic company from overseas there was but one lone straw hat.

SHOOK HANDS

When tea time came Their Majesties, with a few guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, retired to the royal marquee, while the rest of the guests were served in tented pavilions. After refreshments Their Majesties gave a further indication that they knew something about Americans by shaking hands with everyone who wanted to meet them, and from the length of the line of people who lined up and kept Their Majesties out of doors until nearly dinner-time, it seemed that nearly everybody wanted to do so.

Rock Hurlled by Blast Killed Man
In Vancouver Zoo

Vancouver, July 25.—John Waters, animal attendant at the Stanley Park Zoo, was instantly killed shortly after noon yesterday when a rock, hurled from blasting operations nearby crashed through the roof of a shed where he was sitting, eating his lunch and struck him on the head. Waters had been in the shed only a few minutes and had just started his lunch when the accident happened. He was dead when workmen rushed to the shed a few seconds later.

MELTING OF GOLD COINS IS OPPOSED

Sacramento, Cal., July 25.—One of the major problems to come before the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Mining Congress, when it meets here September 29 to October 4, is the huge loss the country is said to suffer every year through the destruction of gold coins.

At present no law prohibits the melting down of gold coins and the use of such metal in the manufacture of jewelry and in the arts. Proponents of a ban on such melting point out that five, ten and twenty-dollar gold pieces, minted at the expense of the taxpayers, are thus removed from circulation to be turned into luxuries. Their opposition is based principally on the fact that gold has a fixed price, set by the Government, unaffected by supply and demand. An anti-destruction law for gold coins will be agitated at the convention and the attitude of the entire mining industry will be sounded out. If the sentiment is favorable, steps will be taken to have such a bill presented in Congress.

London, July 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—The question of whether 50,000 feet of Baltic timber is being used for the gallery for the Pageant of the Empire to be held at the British Empire Exhibition has been put on the Order Paper of the House of Commons by Colonel W. NEW GERMAN PIANO HAS QUARTER TONES

Selections Played on Instrument in Brunswick Before Many Critics

Brunswick, Germany, July 24.—The quarter tone piano is an established fact. The inventor has personally demonstrated it to a large number of musical critics who came to Brunswick from all over Germany.

At the present state of cultivation of the human ear, however, the critics believe it won't do to mix too many quarter tones with the half and whole tones of which the ear is accustomed. Their present advice to composers is to reserve the quarter notes for special passages in which melancholy strains are to be given expression.

One technical difficulty of the invention is that of keeping so minutely adjusted an apparatus in tune. Every player of the piano knows that when an ordinary piano has been treated to a number of fortissimos, the instrument soon needs tuning. If this be true of whole-and-half tone pianos, the critics ask, what will happen to an instrument adjusted on quarter tones? And where can piano tuners be found who can distinguish between intervals of only a quarter of a note?

BODY OF MISSING INDIAN FOUND IN INNER HARBOR

Aged Man Thought to Have Fallen Off Wharf at Railway Bridge

The body of Harry George, sixty, one of the oldest inhabitants of the Taurine River, was found floating in the water of the Inner Harbor this morning, after search by Indians under Dominion Police Constable Thomas O'Connell. The body was found by George Bob, an Indian of the same reservation, floating in the water under the wharf on the north side of the Johnson Street bridge. George had been missing seven days, and was last seen alive on Friday. His movements have been traced up to 5 p.m. when he called at the Salvation Army, and apparently in full possession of his faculties. Prior to that time he had deposited a suitcase at the Interurban Clearing Station.

It is surmised that the unfortunate man wandered to the old wharf fronting the water of the Inner Harbor near the railway bridge, and fell through the rickety decking to the water. The wharf is in a state of some disrepair from age, and such an accident, say the authorities, might easily be the cause of his death. George resided with a large family on the reservation. On Tuesday when the man had not returned his relatives grew anxious, and redoubled their efforts to find him. Constable O'Connell headed the entire reservation in a search of the waters of the harbor, while city police examined vacant lots near the waterfront party and a small canoe, capable of being pushed underneath the wharves between the piles, and in this manner the body was eventually found after forty-eight hours.

An inquest will be held at the McCall funeral premises at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

TOURING HOTEL IS SUBJECT OF ORDER

$18,000 Camping Car Excites Interest on Arrival in Victoria

H. T. Hopper, Ukiah, Cal., banker, with his party of three other Californians, traveling the country on a two months' tour in their specially built $18,000 Pierce Arrow camp car, will spend about ten days on Vancouver Island and left this afternoon for Campbell River for fishing. Their car, which was described in yesterday's Times, attracted a curious crowd near the Publicity Bureau offices today. Mr. Hopper, justly proud of his machine, generously displayed the wonderful contrivances for camping comfort. A thirty-six gallon gasoline tank, a water tank of the same capacity, Pullman berths that form a bed at night, the compact gasoline cook stove, the ice chest and other conveniences built into the car aroused great admiration.

The car left Ukiah four weeks ago. It was unable to be accommodated on the boat from Vancouver, so journeyed to Port Angeles. At Port Angeles they had to cut rails off the ferry slip for it to get on board and it "backed its way into Canada" because it was too large to turn. "Cars like this will be common in the near future," said Mr. Hopper. "There are several along similar lines now being built in San Francisco, and some are being built for stage purposes for Portland."

Troubles are piling up for George Cummings, formerly of this city. Today in County Court chambers before Judge Lampman, Roy Manzer on behalf of creditors, asked leave to file substitution of service in default of personal service on the defendant in a claim for debt. The case forms the second to be brought against Cummings within the past week.

The last heard of the defendant was when he disappeared after the death by violence of Mrs. Jean Rae Cummings, his sixty-two-year-old matrimonial correspondence bride in an auto camp north of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Cummings passed seven months of his busy career in this city and left several hundred dollars in his mail in the hands of the police, who have received a second copy of the matrimonial paper by which the missing man is supposed to have struck up an acquaintance with the murdered woman.

A warrant on the murder charge exists at Grand Rapids, but has not yet been executed. Creditors to the extent of several hundred dollars in this city are equally anxious to ascertain his whereabouts.

The following provincial appointments were announced at the Parliament Buildings today:

Cyril Moran of Galiano and M. B. Whitehead of Squamish to be Justices of the Peace.

Race For Cricket Championship Has Become Very Close

Only Three Points Separate Four Clubs in Pacific Coast Tournament

Incogs and Five C's Draw; Cowichan Beats Albions; To-morrow's Games

Tournament Standing

	P.	W.	L.	D.	Pts.
Incogs	4	2	1	1	7
Albions	4	2	2	0	6
Five C's	4	1	1	2	6
Cowichan	4	1	2	1	4

Any one of the four teams playing in the Pacific coast cricket championship has a chance to win the championship. But three points separate the quartette and with each team looking to play more matches big changes may be made in the standing before the close of the week. Cowichan has the hardest task to win, but now that it has the assistance of its sterling batsman, Matthews, and the efficient trundler, Leighton, it will not doubt have much better success in its remaining matches than it had earlier in the week. Cowichan snowed under the Albions yesterday for its first victory of the week.

Incogs hung on to its lead through drawing with Five C's. In the open matches of the week Incogs defeated Five C's, while Albions conquered Cowichan.

Yesterday's scores were as follows: Five C's, 27; Albions, 154 for five wickets.

Cowichan, 207; Albions, 148.

Cowichan gave a great display of batting. Matthews was high man with forty-eight, but the remainder batted consistently, and all but two reached double figures. Albions used six bowlers to try and dispose of the hard-hitting top batsmen, but Jordan was the only man who met with any success.

ALBIONS GET OFF BADLY

The Albions began disastrously against the bowling of Napper and Leighton and four of their first five wickets went down for one run. From then on the side did better, Fletcher topping the side with 29. Knight, who made 117 the previous day, failed to score yesterday.

A meeting of Five C's and Incogs, always means a spirited contest. Yesterday's affair was no exception to the rule. Five C's put on the splendid total of 274.

Incogs came out with a splendid 89, with Eden Quinton second with 58. The first five batsmen went well into double figures, but the lower half failed to show anything.

The Incogs came to bat with the time limit less than two hours away. They put on runs rapidly but were far short of the Five C's total when time expired. The match resulted in a draw.

Bowlers on both sides found the batsmen very troublesome.

To-morrow's match, which wind up the tournament, will be as follows:

Albions vs. Incogs at Cranmore Road.

Five C's vs. Cowichan at Beacon Hill.

Yesterday's scores were:

Corinthians Sail From England to Play in Dominion

Montreal, July 25.—When Canadian Explosives soccer club won the eastern finals of the Connaught Cup series, they also won the right to show their ability against Corinthians, the famous English amateur soccer club, which will tour Canada. The match with Canadian Explosives will be the final one of the tour and will be played in Montreal on Labor Day. As the Explosives will share in the receipts this will recoup them for much of their expenditure in their long western trip in quest of the Dominion honors.

The Corinthians sailed from Liverpool to-day and will play the first game in Canada against a picked team from the Montreal clubs.

Canadian Doubles Hope For Victory Over Cuban Pair

Crocker Won His Singles Yesterday, But Wright Lost in Davis Cup Match

Ottawa, July 25.—The weather turned very favorable this morning after a heavy rainfall last night, and it was announced at noon that the doubles match of the Davis Cup series between Cuba and Canada would be played this afternoon as scheduled.

Heavy rain all night made it very uncertain that the Davis tennis courts would be in shape for the doubles. A tarpaulin covered the court but the rain back was very wet. The rain has stopped and the courts are in good shape.

The Canadian pair, Willard Crocker and Jack Wright, are both in fine fettle for the contest. They met two of the Cubans who have not played before—G. S. Villaba and R. Banet. Canada and Cuba each won a singles match yesterday and a victory for either team to-day will place it within one point of the next round against Japan.

An exhibition doubles match will see the Canadian team of R. Bald and G. Andrews play Paul Chacon and Oscar Cicero of Cuba, as a curtain-raiser to the main event.

Ottawa, July 25.—Canada and Cuba scored an even break in the two singles matches of the Davis lawn tennis competition here yesterday afternoon. Willard Crocker of Montreal and Rogelio Paris, the Cuban champion, each winning their matches.

The first match went to the full distance before Paris finally found Jack Wright of Montreal, 10-8, 3-6, 2-6, 6-3. Crocker defeated I. Zayas, former Cuban champion, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Copenhagen, July 25.—Denmark drew first blood yesterday in the semi-finals of the Czechoslovakia lawn tennis team in the European zone of the Davis Cup eliminations.

The first match went to the full distance before Paris finally found Jack Wright of Montreal, 10-8, 3-6, 2-6, 6-3. Crocker defeated I. Zayas, former Cuban champion, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Two Indoor Ball Games on To-night

Two games are scheduled in the indoor ball league to-night. At Central Park the Y.M.C.A. will take on Prior's, while at the Work Point Barracks the Garrison will clash with the Naval Barracks. The first game is creating considerable interest. Should Prior's score a win over the "Y" boys they will tie up the league leadership once again. At present the "Y" is leading the league, being one game ahead of the Garrison. Should the "Y" win the game to-night, the off for the Clearview Cup, emblematic of the championship will take place next week.

Old-timers Prove Only Ones Able To Defeat Champions

Veterans of Diamond Give Big Crowd Plenty of Thrills in Fast Game

C.P.R., Despite Its Youth, Falls Before Eight-Inning Rally by 5-3

Once again the Old-Timers' baseball team has slipped the noose on the necks of the champions on the diamond. The Old-Timers, who were behind in the eighth inning of last night's game and defeated the C.P.R. at the Royal Athletic Park by the score of 5-3. The game was full of thrills and excitement and the large crowd of fans was given the treat of their lives.

Jimmy Holmes, who was on the mound for the Old-Timers, was in great form, his curve and floaters completely fooling the railroaders' sluggers. Only nine scattered hits were collected off his offerings while he reaped the same number by strikeouts.

Norm Forbes, the champions' pitching ace, was selected to do the heavy lifting for his side and he allowed but six hits and fanned five men. The Old-Timers were up a tree in the early innings but as the game progressed they got wise and in the last inning crashed out three hits that produced the winning runs.

THEY WERE EVERYTHING

The fans seemed to get a great kick out of the array of uniforms worn by the Old-Timers. Nearly every uniform since baseball was invented has been worn last night. It looked as though some of the players had robbed some clothes lines.

In the eighth inning the veterans of the diamond were trailing on the short end of a 3-2 score but in that inning a great batting rally took place and when the last out was made the Old-Timers were up a tree in the ninth and the C.P.R. had received their first drubbing this season.

In the third inning the C.P.R. opened the scorings. Holm Whyte connected with one of Holmes' fast ones that went for two bases. Haley Jackson picked one to his liking and crashed it into right field for a home run.

In the fourth the champions scored another run. C. Campbell walked to third on Forbes' two-bagger and came home on Falconer Campbell's error.

In the fifth the Old-Timers broke into the scoring. Jack Rithet cracked out a single, went to second on Potts' sacrifice bunt and scored on Barneswell's single and came home on Jackson's error.

In the sixth the Old-Timers loaded the bases but Forbes tightened up and struck out the next three bats.

In the seventh the veterans cut the railroaders' lead down to one run. Holmes singled, went to third on Potts' sacrifice bunt and scored on Barneswell's single and came home on Jackson's error.

In the eighth the Old-Timers broke into the scoring. Jack Rithet cracked out a single, went to second on Potts' sacrifice bunt and scored on Barneswell's single and came home on Jackson's error.

C.P.R. Ball Nine Plays Burlington Squad To-morrow

Local Champs to Clash With Crack American Team at Royal Athletic Park

Baseball fans will have the chance of seeing a crack Washington amateur ball team in action to-morrow evening when the C.P.R. city champions will take on a nine from Burlington, Wash. The game is scheduled to start at 6 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to see the visitors win, as this will be about the last exhibition game this season, as the provincial play-offs commence a week Saturday.

According to reports the visiting team is one of the best in Washington. A few weeks ago they stacked up against the old Hammond team, the winners of the Dewdney-New Westminster, and beat them by the score of 3-1. The Port Hammond team is the local team that the C.P.R. is expected to defeat.

Port Hammond is said to have one of the best teams in the province, so the Americans will have a strong team and will give the railroaders a great battle.

"Matty" Malcom, the railroaders' big hurler from James Island, will be on the mound. He is just getting into shape and will give the visiting batsmen plenty of trouble. Malcom will be a great help to the local champions when they go to quest of the championship.

Carpentier Loses Fight On Doubtful Blow To Stomach

Frenchman Shouts "Foul" After Tunney Hit Him in Fourteenth Round

Ordered to Continue in the Fifteenth He Collapses and Loses Fight

New York, July 25.—Georges Carpentier, for whom a defeat in last night's match had been expected to mean retirement from the ring, said to-day he could not give up his career until he had avenged himself on Gipsy Tunney. He would make no other comment, except to repeat his claim that the finishing blow had been low. The consensus of the boxing experts, however, appears to be that the blow was fair. The verdict of the experts is supported by the announcement this morning by Dr. W. M. Walker of the State Athletic Commission that an examination of Carpentier after the fight revealed no evidence of a foul blow.

Carpentier said after the fight: "Everybody knows I was very strong until then. Tunney was through and I was winning the fight after the tenth."

Tunney said: "It was an uppercut to the pit of the stomach that finished Carpentier. I had been laying for that blow all through the fight. I know it was a fair blow and I was right with the punch which will testify that the blow was to the pit of the stomach."

Georges Carpentier, colorful light heavyweight, war hero and idol of France, stands to-day a retired pugilist, figuratively knocked out of the ring by a stunning left hand heavy-weight champion. Taps were sounded on Carpentier's career last night at the Polo Grounds when Gipsy Tunney, in the last round of a scheduled fifteen-round match after one of the gamiest endeavors ever made by a fighter, knocked down the great miller, Carpentier displayed the white flag of defeat only after a blow, which he alleged was foul, doubled him to the floor in writhing pain. Carpentier made further participation impossible.

The Goddess of Victory never once smiled upon the plucky boxer of Carpentier. He was hit by a left hand blow in the face of certain defeat. Carpentier kept driving on, intent upon making his last endeavor to be remembered.

Perceiving that his pre-fight promise, his days in the ring are over. It was to beat Tunney or retire for him, and his defeat leaves no path for him.

Round one—Carpentier met Tunney in the center of the ring. Tunney hit the boxer with a right hand blow. Frenchman rushed Tunney and peppered him with lightning blows. Carpentier missed a right hand blow. Tunney clinched in the center of the ring. Tunney scoring heavily in the fighting. Tunney's jaw and Carpentier held on. They were sparring at the bell.

INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS ABSORBED LARGER PAYROLL IN B.C. DURING LAST YEAR

Twenty-five per cent more men found jobs through the Government Employment Service last year than in the previous year, according to the annual report of the Department of Labor made public here today. This increase, says the report, is due to improved industrial conditions and to a more general recognition that the employment service is being operated on business lines.

The report sums up the work of the Employment Service for the last year as follows:

Month	Applications	Employers	Transfers	Transfers	Transfers

"The year 1923 was a very favorable period for those dependent upon the industries of this Province," says J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, summing up labor conditions in 1923. "Labor disputes were few in number, and though there was a big strike on the waterfront of our coast cities in the latter part of the year, which involved a considerable displacement of labor, it did not bring about any reduction in the payroll of the Province. Dealing generally with all industries, a careful estimate shows that the payroll for the year exceeded that of the previous year by at least $20,000,000. Most of the industrial groups afforded an average increase in the wages of employees. In addition to these evidences of progress, there is the undoubted fact that unemployment was far less serious in extent than in the past two or three years."

LABOR SHORTAGE

"At certain periods of the year there were indications of an actual shortage of labor, while in the winter months, when some slackening off may be looked for in our important seasonal industries, the number of persons out of work was noticeably less than in the average winter. One result of this was that cases where assistance was needed were dealt with through the normal channels by the municipalities, there being no acute unemployment crisis such as in previous years had led to measures of relief being taken by the Governments of the Province and the Dominion."

"It is estimated," Mr. McNiven states, "that altogether some 35,000 or 40,000 workers in the Province, who have been working more than eight hours a day or forty-eight hours a week, will have their working hours curtailed under the Act. Exceptions to the operation of the Act may be permitted on various grounds on sufficient cause being shown."

INSURANCE MEN'S ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT COLWOOD

Brooke Stephenson Chosen President of Local Body of Underwriters

Succeeding Samuel Clegg as president of the Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents' Association, F. J. R. Stephenson, vice-president of the firm of Robert S. Day and Son, was last night selected to hold office at the annual meeting of the organization, held at Colwood. His name was the only one submitted, and his choice was therefore unanimous. His election was greeted with prolonged and vociferous applause.

A. C. Pitts was unanimously chosen as vice-president of the association, and Francis F. Pitts is the secretary-treasurer. The executive committee consists of the following: D. W. Campbell, Frank Jordan, Harry Bishop, Ernest Todd and Joseph C. Bridgman.

The feature of the annual meeting was the delightful dinner served in the dining-room of the Colwood Golf and Country Club, where the association members and their visitors sat down. During the latter part of the repast several toasts were proposed and drunk. Dan W. Campbell proposed the toast to "Our Sister Organizations," to which W. A. Lawson of Vancouver and Kenneth Duncan, ex-M.P.P. for Cowichan both responded.

President-elect, Brooke Stephenson, proposed the toast to "Our Visitors," and J. P. Doherty, superintendent for fire insurance in B.C., and A. McC. Creery, M.P.P. elect in Vancouver, both replied in fitting terms. The retiring president, Mr. Clegg, gave the toast to "The Press," and Harold B. McDonald replied.

John L. Noble, secretary of the B.C. Fire Underwriters' Association Vancouver, gave a brilliant address during the course of the evening and was given a hearty round of applause. His speech was greatly enjoyed.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

President Samuel Clegg, in the course of his address, said: "There is one important item of business being carried over to next year, and which has been placed on the agenda for the next joint meeting of the three executives, and that is the advisability of legislation being secured to prohibit the payment of commission to brokers outside of the Province, on the lines of legislation now in force south of the line."

FORMER SITUATION

"Before leaving this subject I would like to take you back to the old regime, when we had a separate board for the Island. There are some of us here who think we lost something when that we should have retained, but personally I think the old system could not have been retained. It was the last stronghold of agency control on the continent, and hardly compatible with good business, inasmuch as the company paying the broker had no selection as to the tune. The agents in Victoria approached the crisis in a spirit of fair play and good-will, and the final vote showed only one or two not agreeable to the change, and they, in a magnanimous spirit, made it unanimous."

"My object in bringing this matter to your attention at the moment of retirement after two years of, to me, happy and very pleasant associations, is to appeal to you to realize that we now have what we fought hard for when reorganization took place, and ever since, a board of control by company officials. Therefore, as we have what we asked for, we must, in the same spirit of fair play, and our congratulations to the present committee and assure them of our support and co-operation."

In the secretary-treasurer's report, Francis F. Pitts said that in 1921, when the association was organized, there were fifty-five first agents and fifty-one second agents; to-day there are forty-eight first agents and thirty-three second, showing a loss of fifteen. This reduction is due to a judicious pruning of the appointments, and not to a loss of good business material.

"No very big problems have come before the association during the past year. I think I can say that the local associations are more in harmony with the governing body of the B.C.F.U.A. and with each other than they have ever been before."

"Matters of business detail and functioning must ever crop up, but as long as the local associations maintain their organization upon the foundation of mutual trust and sincerity and proper business ethics, those details will never be allowed to develop into grievances, nor the grievances into sores, nor the sores into revolutionary tactics."

Allusion was made in the secretary's report to the death of C. T. Cross, R. W. Perry and J. S. McGregor.

AUTO SMUGGLERS ACTIVE IN GERMANY

Berlin, July 25.—Automobile smugglers have been operating in Germany. This fact came to light when Government agents swooped down upon the AVUS speedway, between Berlin and Potsdam, set up a guard at either end and confiscated a lot of cars of American and other foreign makes, the owners of which could not produce papers to show they had paid the import duties. Government officials announce a great many foreign cars were brought into Germany last Spring through the occupied territory along the western frontier, which there are no customs officials. Most of them came from France and paid no import tax.

FOUR GIRL KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD HERE

Hardy Portland Hikers Shun Autos and Train in Search of Adventure

Seeking a striking contrast from the humdrum duties that occupy them for the greater part of the year four sturdy sun tanned and healthy Portland girls have answered the call of the road for a memorable month's outing that will provide them with memories of Summer until vacation time comes round again.

Starting out from Portland two weeks ago Elsie Anstey, Esta Calderfield, Joan and May Levine, all chums and the last two sisters, fellow workers in a Portland department store, are out to see as much of the world as a month's freedom will allow. Scorning the modern automobile they donned serviceable khaki outfits and purchased a soldier's cooking outfit and knapsack. "At first we had long arguments," said one of the party, who are now staying at the Auto Camp, "as to whether we should travel by train or on foot. We planned the outing for weeks before we started out. If we had brought what we first thought we couldn't do without, we would have packed a hundred pounds each."

"As it is, all we have is this," she said, lifting a pack of probably between twenty and thirty pounds. "We just distribute the things we have brought as evenly as possible between us."

"It is a great way to see the country," she said with enthusiasm. "We have no definite programme. We usually spend the night at an auto camp, but we travel where we like, and if a place appeals to us we spend two or three days there. We had heard so much about Vancouver Island that we were determined to come here. Walking doesn't tire us, although we can cover twice the distance now we could the first day out, but as far as walking is concerned, we wouldn't have to do much of it if we didn't choose to. There is always someone at the Auto Camp offering to give us a lift if we are travelling in their direction."

On the road the autos often pull up and ask us if we would like a lift. Sometimes we take it, sometimes we don't, according to the country we are passing through."

While in Victoria the party gathered information on Butchart's Gardens to which they paid a visit. Afterwards they plan to go to Port Angeles, then to Olympia, and travel the Olympic Highway through the beautiful Quilcene Valley.

MACHINE MONEY TAKER.—President Frank Hedley of the Interborough Rapid Transit Corporation, is seen demonstrating the new change-making machine just installed in the 77th Street Station of the Lexington Avenue subway, New York. In connection with the nickel-in-the-slot turnstiles installed a year or so ago, the new machine will make entrance to the subway, an entirely automatic affair, and will save millions of dollars in wages now paid to the money changers in the booths.

"BIM" BANKS.—Every dog has his day, but not every dog has his banking day. "Bim" Elbert does, though. Every Saturday he may be seen entering a Chicago bank to make his deposit. His book already shows a balance of $68. He gets dimes and quarters for carrying a shopping basket for his mistress, Mrs. Orel Elbert (above), watching her automobile, and going to bed on time.

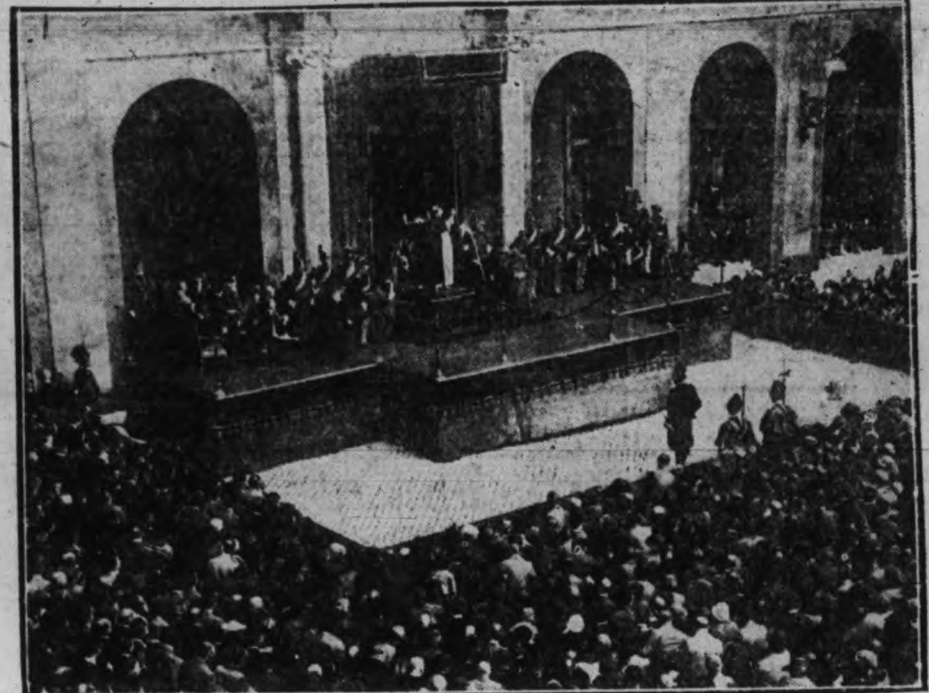

CANADIAN CHAMP.—Larry Gains, former Negro Canadian amateur heavyweight champion, is making quite a name for himself in Europe, meeting the best in France and Germany, usually with success. He has not won all the bouts, but he has always given the fans a run for their money. He is now located at Cologne, Germany, and is now shown above in company with his German manager.

WAR LORD'S STAR WANES.—General Erich Ludendorff, who led the famed German war machine, is reported in dispatches from Berlin to be victim of strange fantastic dreams; to have become a recluse, withdrawing from society and to have split with the Hohenzollerns and Hindenburgs. He is said to be unable to face the realities and has weird conceptions of the power of a disarmed Germany. He has become equally fanatical on religious subjects. His dreamings of lost power have caused some critics to declare that strain has distorted his mental processes. In this latest picture of Ludendorff (left) he is shown meeting veterans of the German navy.

NEW PHONE SYSTEM.—Toronto is installing the automatic telephone system. Above are shown policemen at the Main Street police station undergoing instructions in the use of the new automatic telephone in case they should have to send in an emergency call from a district where it has been inaugurated.

PUTS ONE OVER ON NATURE.—David Lumsden, Washington, D.C., a scientist, who has explored the secrets of the vegetable kingdom for Uncle Sam, awakens flowers, shrubs and starts them growing even in the dead of winter with ether—the same kind that puts a man soundly to sleep.

RUN PHEASANT FARM.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson of Eugenia, Ont., gamekeepers on the Eugenia government game preserve, are pioneers in the introduction of the pheasant industry into Ontario. This most beautiful of game birds is now being reared in thousands on the preserve with a view to its wonderful usefulness as an insect destroyer on the farms of the Province.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily in the Well

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

(By Howard R. Garis)

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the woodland path one day, going out to his camp under the umbrella tent, when he saw Jollie and Jille Longtail, the mouse brother and sister. "Hello, Jollie and Jille!" called the rabbit gentleman, as he twinkled his pink nose. "Why don't you come out to see me in my camp?" "Thank you, we shall be very pleased to do that," squeaked Jille politely, being a little girl mouse. "Have you anything good to eat out at your camp?" asked Jollie, who was a boy mouse, and in consequence always hungry. "I have some fine cheese cake out at my camp," spoke the bunny. "Oh," cried Jollie. "Ah!" cried Jille. For they were very fond of cheese cake. "Come along out to camp with me," invited the bunny. And when they got there—no, the cupboard wasn't bare, as it was in the story of

was thinking more about the cheese cake than about anything else.

While the two mice children were scurrying home Uncle Wiggily was very busy in his woodland camp. For he had made up his mind to dig a well where he could draw water.

"A spring is all right," said the bunny, "and so is a babbling brook. But if I have my own well I can draw water when I please. I will dig me a well. Which do you like?" For rabbits are very good diggers, you know. Uncle Wiggily dug quite a deep hole down in the ground, but he came to no water.

"Never mind," he said. "I will dig the well deeper after lunch, and then I will come to water. I'll hop out now and get something to eat."

"But when he tried to hop out of his well he couldn't. He had dug himself in too deeply. Up and up jumped the bunny, but he couldn't jump out of the well even if it had no water in it."

"Oh, what shall I do?" cried poor Uncle Wiggily down in the well hole. "How can I get out?" "We will help you out!" suddenly cried two little voices.

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit. "We are Jollie and Jille Longtail—the mice," was the answer. "We came back to see if you had any more cheese cake," squeaked Jollie. "We heard you call from down in the well. Wait a minute and we will help you out."

"Are you strong enough to pull me out of the well?" asked the rabbit, as he saw the two little mice looking down at him from over the edge. "If we aren't we'll get the Police Dog to help us," said Jille.

The little mice gnawed off some long pieces of wild grape vines, which were like ropes. These they lowered into the well. Uncle Wiggily took hold of the vines in his paws, but the mice were not strong enough to pull him out.

However, Jollie ran to get the Police Dog, and that strong chap, with the help of the mice, hauled the rabbit up out of the well.

"We are very much," said Uncle Wiggily, brushing the dirt off his whiskers. "I'm glad my well had no water in it." Then he gave the mice children some cheese cake, and he gave the Police Dog a bone, and every one was happy. And if the screwdriver will take the hammer out for a ride in the wheelbarrow, next you shall hear about Uncle Wiggily and the sour grass.

Oh, cried Jollie.

Mother Hubbard. For Uncle Wiggily's cupboard was a wooden box, and in it were some pieces of cheese cake and some other things good to eat.

"Wasn't Uncle Wiggily lovely to us?" asked Jille of her brother, as a little later they were going home together from the bunny's camp. "Yes, he was top hole good," squeaked Jollie, speaking like a little English mouse. And he picked from his whiskers some crumbs of cheese cake and swallowed them. "I'm sure I swallowed the cake crumbs."

"I wish we could do something for Uncle Wiggily, because he was so kind to us," went on Jille. "Maybe we can," said Jollie, who was thinking more about the cheese cake than about anything else.

While the two mice children were scurrying home Uncle Wiggily was very busy in his woodland camp. For he had made up his mind to dig a well where he could draw water.

Love Stakes

By MILDRED BARBOUR

It was just the move she had hoped for, but she mendaciously protested that it would cause gossip, to which he replied:

"You crossed with Amory. That should have caused more gossip, under the circumstances, than our travelling together. Besides, no one knows me in the States any more. I've been quite forgotten."

Hesitatingly, Natalie told him about the talk Robert Amory was creating.

"Do you mind?" he asked. "No," she answered truthfully. "Good girl!" he lifted her hand to his lips. "A woman after my own heart! I love you more every day."

"Remember," she reminded him, "I'm not promising you anything. You're returning to America of your own accord."

"Exactly. And I shan't ask anything of you—yet. Not until you've seen and talked with Barry."

So it came about that the next outgoing steamer carried Mrs. Barry Sheldon and George Trent on its passenger list.

The crossing was pleasant. Trent, the most charming of fellow travelers, Natalie was almost sorry when the voyage ended, except for the mad tumult of her heart at the thought of seeing Barry again.

But her anticipatory joy was tempered with uneasiness and fear, too. What should she find on her return? Would Jeannette Amory have made the most of her opportunity, and would Barry be, by now, her unprotected property? Would she, Natalie, be too late with her plan of action?

She spent the last day or so aboard the ship summoning her flagging courage and lashing herself to the distasteful role she had undertaken. It was going to be desperately hard to deceive all the people she loved, to see them amazed and disapproving. To cease being honest, when you have always prided yourself on that quality, is much more difficult than trying to be honest when you are naturally deceitful. The latter is constructive, but the other, being destructive, goes against the grain.

Barry was at the pier to meet them on the bright Summer morning when the ship docked.

Natalie's heart fairly leaped at the sight of his handsome, bronzed face, the long lithe body that carried his Summer tugs so superbly. He was hers, outwardly at least, for all the world to see, even though his heart belonged to Jeannette Amory.

He bent and kissed her lovely upturned lips lightly. The touch of his mouth sent a quiver through her and she closed her eyes momentarily and drew a deep breath which she hid with a laugh, as she turned to Trent, who watched the greeting rather gingerly.

"You remember George Trent, of course, Barry?"

A little of the brilliance dimmed in Barry's smile, but he grasped Trent's hand and wrung it cordially enough.

"It's great to see you again, old man. Quite an ex-patriot, aren't you?"

"George," said Natalie, calmly, using Trent's given name for the first time, "has been perfect to me. I'm sure I couldn't have crossed without him."

She employed that new trick of fluttering lashes for the first time, too, in Barry's presence.

He stared. He had never seen Natalie deliberately resorting to coquetry before. Her eyes had all day met his frankly like a boy's.

He turned to Trent, for whom, apparently, this exhibition was designed.

Trent's face was off guard. There was no mistaking his passion for Natalie. All who ran might read—even her husband.

THE HOME-COMING

If Barry had taken it for granted that Trent would remain in New York, or go on to Boston, where he had relatives, he was quickly undeceived.

Trent accompanied the Sheldon's home, explaining easily that since he was an ex-patriot and rather persona non grata around Boston anyway, he might as well take up a new residence in the States, and since Barry, his old college chum, Jim Deering, an old alumnus, and Natalie—his smile was significant when he spoke her name—all happened to live in the same very charming city, he'd just set up his lares and penates in that place.

Barry civilly invited him to stop with them, but Trent declined, saying he'd lived in hotels so long that he wasn't fit for a private household, and he'd better take a suite in some residential hotel for a while and get a glimpse of an apartment or a club. His very refusal to visit them was significant. It showed plainly that he had no intention of accepting the hospitality of a man whose wife he coveted.

Barry was rather thoughtful on the way home. Natalie and Trent chatted animatedly in their corner of the compartment, but their voices were pitched too intimately low for Barry to catch what they said above the roar of the train.

Trent anticipated Natalie's every want—and they were not few. She took care of that. Remembering the old Natalie who had been so self-reliant and boyishly competent, she invented all sorts of needs to keep Trent and Barry (a little surprised but gallantly eager) hopping about to serve her.

It was nearing midnight when they arrived home, but late as it was, Mrs. Sheldon was waiting to welcome them. Trent had declined stopping for the supper which Barry declared would be ready for them, and went on to his hotel, so it was only Natalie whom her mother-in-law hurried forward to fold in her arms and kiss with affectionate tenderness.

She held her off and searched the young face with anxious eyes as if she feared to read something there. "You're looking superb," she decided. "So young and happy. The trip has done you a world of good."

"It has brought me some very beautiful memories," said Natalie softly.

She lowered her eyes with that little fluttering trick of her lashes and, under her mother-in-law's sharp scrutiny, a wild rose flush crept into her cheeks.

Over her head, Mrs. Sheldon's eyes flew to her son's. He was looking as puzzled as she.

Natalie shy, uncertain? Surely not cool, clear-eyed, Natalie!

"Harriet!" Natalie broke the silence eagerly. "Tell me about her? Is she better?"

"Much better," Mrs. Sheldon assured her, "and so eager to see you!"

"I'll go to-morrow," Natalie began and added with a sigh, "If I'm recovered from my journey sufficiently."

"But my dear, are you not well?" her mother-in-law's voice expressed concern.

"Oh, yes—but I tire so easily," sighed Natalie. "Perhaps it's just the languorous Italian climate."

Barry was seriously concerned, for Natalie could almost equal him in physical endurance.

"Then you probably won't feel like tennis to-morrow. I'd promised Constance and Jim that we'd ligh with them at the club and have a match in the afternoon."

"Tennis!" Natalie's wide eyes looked as though she'd never even heard of the game. "Oh, I'm sorry! I'm quite out of form and besides, I've an engagement to-morrow afternoon."

Notice to Breeders of Livestock

Mr. Erick Bowman, the discoverer of The Bowman Remedy, claims that in treating 70,000 cattle in the United States the results have been successful in 98% of the cases treated.

Are your dairy cows and heifers causing you trouble?

Are you obtaining results in calves and milk that satisfy you?

Do your cows (according to your knowledge of their capacity) produce as much milk as they should—or are you marking time and feeding a number of boarders that should be sent to the butcher?

These are matters that can be put right. Delays are fatal. Why not consult?

FIVE THOUSAND RETURNING FROM U.S. EACH MONTH

Number Coming Home Equals
Up Emigration From Canada

Three or Four a Day Turned Down at U.S. Consul's
Office Here

Three or four persons of other than Canadian birth on Vancouver Island are turned down daily by the United States Consulate in Victoria on their application to leave Victoria for permanent residence in the United States since the new quota regulations from July 1 have been in effect. It was reported at the U. S. Consul's office to-day, Canadian born citizens who have free entry into the United States on showing birth certificates and measuring up to the usual physical and mental standards are leaving from Vancouver Island at the rate of about five a day, it is reported.

BACK TO CANADA
On the other side of the ledger reports received by the Chamber of Commerce show that many Canadians are returning from the United States. Figures received by the Chamber to date place the number of returning Canadians to this country at five thousand a month. No definite figures have been kept by the Canadian Government in the past regarding Canadians but in the last few months an accurate record has been kept which shows a surprisingly large number returning.

A quota of eighty Old Country born from Vancouver Island to the United States is allowed for the year ending July and this has already been filled. It is made up of two classes, preference and non-preference. The preference class includes the unmarried man of eighteen years of age and the father, wife, husband or mother of a United States citizen. Skilled agriculturists are also included in the preference class.

Ignorance of the quota regulations is the cause of disappointments for the three or four who are turned away each day. Reports around the city of dozens being refused application daily to leave for the United States are contradicted by the report that only three or four a day are being rejected.

PLANS MONSTER SHOW IN TEXAS

Director of Proposed Exposition Comes to Interest B.C.

Scheme Would Entail Cost of
Over $50,000,000

Traveling as a director of the proposed Texas International Exposition, which it is proposed to hold in one of the chief cities of that state in 1929, Will H. Evans, a leading citizen of Bonham, Texas, arrived at the Dominion Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Evans, who is accompanied by Mrs. Evans, has undertaken to work through California and the Pacific Northwest, into British Columbia, while other directors visit other sections of the continent, to sound-out public opinion on the proposal. The management is organized on the basis of two representatives each for the thirty-one congressional districts, nine official representatives of the state, and twenty-nine co-opted persons, leaders in the financial and business life of the state, the committee of 100 having full charge of the plan.

The exposition is planned to be organized on different lines to most of these gatherings. It is not proposed to be historical or to commemorate any particular anniversary, but to be an illustration of what has been accomplished in the world of scientific discovery, aeronautics, husbandry and invention at the present time. The exposition management would provide the site and leaving the choice of representation entirely up to the individual representatives.

Mr. Evans reports to The Times satisfactory progress hitherto, and many promises of co-operation on the Pacific seaboard. When he returns home he will confer with his fellow directors and reach a decision on the future propaganda for the scheme. The cost is estimated by experts, consulted for the purpose, at between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

The visitor has an interesting link with the pioneer days of the Republic of Texas, as his grandfather received the land he still owns from the republican government in 1836, before the annexation to the United States, and Mr. Evans a few years ago gave a monster party to 42,000 persons which lasted three days and nights, and won national publicity for its exceptional character. This was given to mark the long association of his family with Northern Texas.

Five cities are competing for the location of the exposition, but no decision has been reached by the committee of 100 yet as to the selection, many factors having to be considered in determining location.
